Dear [REDACTED]

In regard to our conversation following the Research and Engineering Council of the Graphic Arts Industry's Conference on Computer Typesetting, March 3, 1965, in Washington, D. C., please consider this our formal request for material which will aid us in better reporting on the conference.

Would it be possible for you to furnish us with a copy of your speech and some illustrations similar to those you used as slides? These would include comparisons of hyphenated and unhyphenated pages with corresponding indications of expanded-letter printing. We think this material may be of considerable benefit to publishers and printers who are at present considering computer composition but are hesitant about the problem of hyphenation and justification.

We are looking forward to hearing from you soon, and thank you for any assistance you can offer in this matter.

Sincerely,

Dan Rustin
Associate Editor
